Entry Level Developer Position

Greenshades Software is a small software company that writes accounting solutions that integrates with Microsoft technologies. We have a large client list and are seeking to expand our development team to help us with ongoing projects. Our work environment is casual and energetic with a family atmosphere.

Requirements:
- Works well with a team
- Resourcefulness (does not require constant hand-holding)
- Strives for excellence
- Collegiate or real-world experience with .NET development (preferably C#) and the Visual Studio IDE
- Strong understanding of object oriented programming
- Some ASP.NET experience preferred
- Strong problem solving skills

Job Description

The junior developer position will be assisting developers on various projects by applying principles and techniques of computer science. They will be researching new technology, developing internal tools, and using problem solving skills to troubleshoot various client concerns. They will also be working with teams to produce new products using the Agile Software Development model.